FIRST ROUND IN CROSSING FIGHT WON BY BOARD

Judge Scofield Favors County Commissioners in White Oaks-rd Dispute

C., D. & M. PLANS APPEAL

Attorney for Company Announces Case Will Be Carried to Appellate Court

County commissioners have won the first round of their legal battle to extend White Oaks-rd over the C., D. & M. railroad northeast of the city at a grade crossing here, authorized in a decision handed down today by Judge Scofield in the court of common pleas.

The decision in connection with a suit brought in the county which was heard by Judge Scofield last Friday. The C., D. & M. has refused to grant the board the right of way claiming that a grade crossing would be dangerous and interfere with operation of the railroad.

The county maintains that the crossing should be made with the idea that White Oaks-rd may be opened through to the Prospect pk. and thus provide a needed thoroughfare into the west section of the city.

Planning Appeal

The result in the common pleas court will not end the controversy as to an appeal W. P. Molony, attorney for the C., D. & M. stated today. He is preparing to carry the case to the court of appeals and it is generally predicted that it will finally reach the state supreme court. Judge Scofield fixed the appeal bond at $500.

Judge Scofield's docket entry reads as follows:

"Establishing crossing at grade granted. Crossing is reasonably required to accommodate the public and in the least expensive considering the future use to which the highway may be adopted."

Want Grade Crossing

The commissioners have planned a grade crossing asserting that an overhead or underground would be too costly.

Controversy over the crossing dates back about three years when the county started its first negotiations with the C., D. & M. Owners of land along the White Oaks-rd are greatly interested in the proceedings and are awaiting the courts decision. They claim that should the road be opened practically all of the land will be platted for residence purposes.

THREAT OF OPERATORS IS DECLARED FAILURE

Union Coal Miners Standing "Pat" 100 Per Cent, Hall Says

Columbus July 18 — Declaring that the threat of Ohio coal operators to reopen their mines on a non-union basis is complete failure was voiced here today by Lee Hall president, Ohio United Mine Workers.

"Reports received by us today from all the coal mining districts throughout Ohio show that despite the promise of the operators to reopen mines Saturday—and then making the date today—if the union miners failed to accept their ultimatum prove that there is nothing doing from the viewpoint of the operators threat declared Hall.

"Our men are standing pat 100 per cent Hall said.

Conditions were quiet today in the various coal fields Hall stated.

The operators had threatened to reopen their mines on a non union basis last saturday if the union miners failed to agree to a wage scale based upon the November, 1927 scale which provided a minimum of $7 per day.

The miners on strike are holding out for a reaffirmation of the Jacksonville scale with a minimum of $7.50 per day.

HUNGER STRIKE SACCO-VANZETTI PROTEST PLAN

Governor Fuller's Investigating Methods Opposed by South Braintree Convicts

Boston July 18—Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti convicted and sentenced to the electric chair for murder were on a hunger strike today at Charlestown State Prison in protest against the methods employed by Gov. Alvan T. Fuller who is investigating their cases.

Vanzetti started his food strike Saturday, partaking of practically no nourishment over the week-end. Sacco has refused food since yesterday morning.

Both men were sentenced to die for the murder of a South Braintree paymaster and his guard in 1920. Their cases have attracted international interest because of their radical connection and their claim that they had not received a fair trial.

Committee Working

Governor Fuller has under consideration their plea for clemency.

The executive appointed a special advisory committee to investigate the trial of the two men to work independently of his investigation.

Despite Governor Fuller's conducting his investigation privately without counsel for Sacco and Vanzetti or of evidence the latter had taken the attitude that he was not being given fair play. In a statement issued when he started the strike Vanzetti declared that he was being killed for the false statements of informers appearing before Governor Fuller.

The two men were sentenced to die July 10 but Governor Fuller granted them a respite until August 10 to permit a full investigation of their cases.

NON-PARTISAN POLICY OF LABOR RECOMMENDED

John P. Frey, State Federation President, Addresses Convention

Middletown July 18—Advocating the non-partisan political policy adopted a year ago as the best means for bringing about judicial reform in matters relating to industrial disputes and for securing legislation designed to benefit labor was recommended here today by John P. Frey, Cincinnati president of the Ohio Federation of Labor addressing the federation's annual convention which opened here today.

Submitting his annual report Frey appealed to organized labor to electing leaders who will vote for a bill declaring yellow dog contracts between employers and employees and who will work for the passage of a measure placing restrictions around courts to equity who will not permit a dual police authority to be set up in Ohio and who will stand pledged to safeguard Ohio's Workmen's Compensation law.

Frey appealed to labor to stand solid to aid the Ohio coal miners in their strike "as soon as we are called to do so."

He said it was not within the power of the Ohio Federation of Labor to attempt to solve the miners problem. That is a responsibility which they are capable of undertaking themselves Frey declared.

SEVERAL ANGLO-JAP SUGGESTIONS REPORTED UNACCEPTABLE TO U. S. DELEGATES

Geneva July 18—American counter proposals will be offered to the Anglo-Japanese suggestions for a naval disarmament agreement as put forth at was learned today in a secret session of the chief delegates to the 3 power conference.

Several of the Anglo-Japanese proposals are unacceptable to the United States. It is not planned to reject them flatly but to offer counter proposals.

The situation has now become delicate and observers agree that Great Britain has maneuvered the conference in a position where if it finds the burden of blame will seem to rest upon the United States.

After the secret meeting today, a communique was issued stating that conversations have been proceeding with a view to reconciling the British and Japanese viewpoints and "progress has been made which is sufficiently encouraging to warrant further examination of the matter in detail."

The British and Japanese delegates handed the American delegates today copies of a provisional agreement which they have reached during the week-end.

In general the agreement is said to be based on an agreement for a combined tonnage of 300,000 tons for the United States and Great Britain and the limitation of eight-inch guns on cruisers under 7,000 tons.

The American delegation is understood to have received these proposals with more than reserve.

Colored Team Pounds Out Three Homers and 10 Other Safeties in Ninth; Main Knocked from Box with Two Out in Last Inning

BY MARION O. CHENOWETH

PITTSBURGH'S famous colored team, the Homestead Grays, came to Marion Sunday afternoon and after a delightful chat with the Marion Athletics nine at the Lincoln Park diamonds for eight full innings, started a procession in the first of the final frame which resulted in the loss of three good baseballs over the right field fence and the damage of several others, before they packed their bats and returned to the Smoky City.

And in the meantime, the colored students of the baseball game, showing no mercy for the local baseball team, turned the game into a track meet and amassed a total of 12 runs after nearly every Gray player had contributed his every Gray player had contributed his every two in the period. After the smoke of battle had died away and the local squad tired vainly to recover its equilibrium, the final score stood at 18 to 8 with Marion claiming the little end.

With the locals ahead of the field at the termination of the eighth frame, Tex, it was an heartbreaking an affair that was ever witnessed on the Marion diamonds, when the end of the ninth rolled around. The game had been won early, tied a short time later, and won again, before the big bounce up in that fateful ninth to the platter and fanned out 12 hits which resulted in 12 tallies.

Main Replaced

The effectiveness of Pitcher Morris Main in the opening innings was brilliant, but as the candle on a dark and stormy night, it flickered and finally went out. He was replaced by Reese after two had been tagged in the ninth. The relief, did not halt the march of the Grays until five batters had walloped his ball.

At intense moments, each time with two players on base three balls found there way over the right field fence, being clouted by Riggins, V. Harris and J. Williams respectively in that last inning. These hits with eight singles, a double, three free bases on balls and an available error, nearly caused Marion to give up baseball for golf in that eventful period of the game.

Marion played a good brand of baseball during most of the game and it was the fifth inning before the generally invincible Main donated the visitors a single. Six runs were annexed by the Pittsburgh team in the sixth and two the seventh, during which time errors and several hits were prominent.

Starts Good

The local team, on the other hand, went after the victory fruits at the start and brought in three runs as an

... opener in the third frame. This was followed by successive tallies in next four periods.

Oscar Owens, the iron man pitcher of the visitors, started the game but was relieved as the rewards by the ... Beckland "Scotty" Joe Williams, ... Grays right ... Biggins, in the right garden. The two starting pitchers fanned six men while they walked but one. Main was not as effective and walked eight batters, and struck out two.

It was V. Harris who lambasted a home run in the second appearance at the plate that carried all the racket which ... a great number of balls in the last of the game. With him out at second, the two succeeding batters pounded ... for one base and finally ... scored ... the ... who started the home run business.

Another Homer

Two free passes, an error by Conner, a single and another homer by V. Harris on his second trip, getting the tip from Biggins, brought five more runs into the fold. With the local team up in the air, the Grays managed to hit and steal almost at will and four hits and a free base later found another ... losing itself over on ... side of the right wall.

The Marion batters, Main and Brashear, took the honors for the attempt's stick work. It was Main's safety in the third that sent in two runs and Brashear that counted the remaining tally home. The latter players also accounted for a hit in the second frame.

LOU WALLOPS THIRTIETH, HELPS YANKS TO VICTORY

Veteran Walter Johnson Takes White Sox into Camp, 7 to 4; Detroit Climbs

New York, July 18—With interest in the pennant race practically killed by the Yankees' repeated successes, American League fans today turned their attention to the Ruth-Gehrig duel. Gehrig pickled his thirtieth homer yesterday and is again tied with Babe. The blow tied the score in the Yankees-Browns contest, and another homer by Bob Meusel on the next ball pitched, enabled the New Yorkers to win, 5 to 4, for their ninth straight victory over the Browns.

Old Walt Johnson hurried home to a 7 to 4 win over the White Sox while his mates were shelling Ted Lyons off the landscape. The Sox dropped back into the second division. Tris Speaker collected three hits and passed Ty Cobb's mark in the batting averages.

Detroit climbed to fourth place by posing out the Athletics in the ninth, 5 to 4. McManus tripled and scored when Jimmy Dykes converted a bunt into a ... instead of a putout.

The Cardinals got tough with Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn ace, in the ninth, and won 5 to 2 on St. Louis's triple. Rojekhart, who started on the mound for the world's champions was batted out of the box in a trice. The other eight teams were idle.

FIRE DESTROYS LARGE BARN OF A. D. MITCHELL

Loss Estimated at More Than $10,000; Partially Insured; Scouts Fight Blaze

One of the largest and most complete barns in this part of the state was completely destroyed by fire last Saturday night on the farm of A. D. Mitchell located four miles south of town on the Somerlot pk. Mr. Mitchell estimated the loss at more than $10,000, partially covered by insurance.

At the time of the fire the Mitchell family were at Rye Beach where they had gone early in the afternoon to spend the week-end.

The fire which is thought to have originated from spontaneous combustion caused by new hay being placed on last year's crop in the mow, completely destroyed a double corn crib and large granary which were housed in the same building. Many tons of hay, several hundred bushels of oats, 300 bushels of corn, and several tons of feed and bran were consumed. A binder, a gang plow, a hay loader, a disc harrow, and a number of smaller pieces of machinery were a complete loss. One hundred and fifty chickens also were burned.

Woman Discovers Fire

At 10:30 o'clock Saturday night Clarence DeLong, a neighbor drove past the Mitchell home but saw no signs of fire. A half hour later he was aroused by his wife who had seen the glow of the flames in the windows of their own home. Mr. DeLong rushed to the scene of the fire but the large barn was already beyond saving.

Form Bucket Brigade

The staff of Camp John A. Owens, which is located two miles east of the fire, was aroused by J. Harper Melvin, who had seen the reflection in the sky. Rushing to the Mitchell farm in a car they formed a bucket brigade and by keeping the roofs of the nearby buildings soaked prevented the fire from destroying the house and a number of sheds which were already burning in places when the staff arrived. E. J. Neff, Frank Williams, Robert Ellis, Alvin Silverman, J. Harper Melvin and H. Ward Ewalt, Jr., made up the fire fighting party from the camp, which remained at the Mitchell farm until relatives arrived.

The leaders from Camp Owens were ably assisted in their efforts at preventing the spread of the fire by Ogie Hunt, of Owens, J. L. Barringer, at Route No. 1, Marion, and C. F. Carroll of 274 Marion-av, who were among the first to arrive at the blaze.

Flames Attract Crowd

Flames from the 175 by 75 foot barn leaped 75 feet into the air attracting a great throng of spectators. It is estimated that 700 cars visited the scene of the spectacular blaze. Roads leading to the fire were congested for hours after the barn had been reduced to a mass of smouldering ashes.

A call was sent in to the city fire department, and companies from Central and No. 2 stations responded. After driving to the end of Chemo-av, where the fire was reported the department turned back.

BINCOS DROP CONTEST TO HARPSTER, 16 TO 6

Errors Prove Costly to Locals in First Loss of Season

Marion Binco baseball team, leaders of the Tri-County League, dropped its first contest of the season, at Lincoln Park, yesterday afternoon, in a non-league fray, to Harpster, 16 to 6.

Errors, occurring at climaxing points of the game, was the prime factor in the victory of the visiting team. Only two of the locals succeeded in finishing the game with a clean slate.

The visiting nine started off with a bang and ran six runs across the rubber before the first inning terminated. The effort of the Binco nine to stage a comeback was rewarded with a single run and that effort was smothered by eight more runs which were amassed by the northern village team in the third frame.

Marion managed to return one run in each of the third, fourth and fifth innings and with a useless attempt closed the contest by dropping two more counters in the last. Harpster meanwhile were not idle but brought its score to 10.

I. Moses pitched excellent ball and was given good support. Rife was on the mound for the locals while W. Merchant was on the other end of the battery.

Surviving with Mr. Burchfield and the daughter, are two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Grubb and Miss Maggie Conner, Athens, and a brother, Otto Conner of Athens County.

REFORMED CHURCH GROUP MEETS AT SWANEY HOME

Prospect, July 18—Zion's Workers of the Reformed Church held a business and social meeting Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Swaney, with their wives and friends as guests. About 35 were present. A short business session was held, when plans for fall work were made. It was planned to have an open meeting in September with a speaker from the seminary in Dayton. Dan Lauer was chairman of the program and social hour; Robert Poole gave a recitation; Otto Kuhlelt a reading, and R. W. Herbster a talk. Games and a social time were enjoyed and ice cream and cake were served.

NOT SO

Fraulein C. Aussem, the German women's lawn tennis champion, vigorously denies the story that she intends to join the ranks of the professionals.

OLDEST NICKNAME

"Pirates," the popular designation of the Pittsburgh team, is one of the oldest nicknames in the National League.

FIRST TEAM BEATEN

The first regular team of American college athletes to visit England was sent over by Yale in 1801. The team engaged in a dual track meet with Oxford and was defeated.

Billy Holbert of Reading, Pa., Claims Title of "Oldest Active Ball Player"

READING, Pa., July 18—The oldest living baseball player still belonging to the profession is Billy Holbert, 52 years old lieutenant pitcher of the Reading Internationals league team.

Holbert began his career as a professional pitcher back in 1895 with the club of Baltimore where he was born. He played the first year of the National League with the Louisville club in the season of 1876. Although the aged ballplayer has not played a match game professionally in many years his intelligence of the game is refreshing.

Bill is at Reading this season because Jack Dunn, Baltimore owner and once noted pitcher of the Brooklyn club, secured his next batting lessons from Holbert who was a star in the days of A. G. Spalding, Al Reach, Pop Anson, Barnes, Hackworse and others. Dunn is more or less interested in the Reading club operated by the Arbogasts of Baltimore.

For the past 10 years Holbert has been laboring gardener around Camp Meade and other military camps in Maryland but the call of the bat and ball could not be given a deaf ear. For that reason Dunn who became famous through Holbert's early instructions around the old state, sent him to Reading to keep Fred Merkle company.

Holbert perhaps is the only player who can go back to the boyhood days of some of 50 years ago and compare them with Cobb, Speaker, Ruth, Collins, Hornsby and those of today. He makes frequent trips to Philadelphia to size up their abilities and looks back to the days of Gore, Delahanty, Anson, White and others.

Holbert has seen Ty Cobb in action this season and he is of the opinion that Cobb to-day is as prodigious as any of all times, although he says the pitching nowadays is more restricted.

BALLOCK HAILED

Teddy Baldock, whom England hails as the new world's bantamweight champion, has been presented with an illuminated address by the council of Poplar, of which borough he is a native and resident.

The next successor of Jones, present with Ring as the National League's best heavyweight, according to many sports fans, may take place in Minneapolis early in 1928 when Hogan, who has been the leader in his league since the season opened, will be matched with Joe Hubert, another Minneapolis boy, for the championship of the league. Hogan has been the leader in his league since the season opened, will be matched with Joe Hubert, another Minneapolis boy, for the championship of the league.

Designs a Helmet

Mrs. T. Higbee Embry of Cincinnati, O., who pilots her own plane between Dayton and her home city, has created a flying helmet, which can be worn with equal facility on the street. It is made of soft tan leather to match her flying togs. Photo shows Mrs. Embry wearing the helmet.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

was Sunday, and we were [illegible] and I was a long ways from sorry.

Today was Monday and we were at the river back of the poorhouse and we were on the high bank over the Sippewissetska and Nibs had the Lost Bag of Tripe's pants by the legs and the Lost Bag of Tripe was hollering for them and Jubilee had hold of the waistband and Nibs was swinging Jubilee round his head by them which is a game Jubilee likes, and a man came running out and told him to give the Lost Bag of Tripe, his britches and all at once Nibs said, "All right," and let go of the pants and Jubilee hit the man in the face and knocked him a back summerset into the river. After the man got tired chasing us Nibs got what was coming to him. There can't nobody throw my dog around that way and get away with it.

Nibs got what was coming to him

I don't know if the Lost Bag of Tripe got his britches or not.

[illegible] off from the top and [illegible] all the ways to the [illegible] were going to get under [illegible] was on the railroad [illegible] dry, but we were wet [illegible] full of sand so we went [illegible] top of the mountain and [illegible] some shoes and [illegible] the box car and drug it [illegible] was a good thing we did [illegible] is for we could of got [illegible] when it was pulled off [illegible] us and we were left setting [illegible]

[illegible] stopped raining so we could [illegible] our clothes were so full of [illegible] and that when we walked [illegible] like rubbing sandpaper to [illegible] The girls went home because [illegible] any other place to go, but [illegible] swimming and wrenched most [illegible] out of our clothes and [illegible] them in the sun, and I told by [illegible] that the rain had come up be-

Peter's Adventures

A Story for Boys and Girls

BY FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

THE "COMING-OUT" CONCERT

Froggie was delighted to discover [illegible] at last the Boy had recognized

"It was very well indeed, Two-Legs," [illegible] he, "and as happy as a crickin [illegible] earth. All day I have felt as [illegible] my skin would burst, so full [illegible] joy am I. I asked you a moment [illegible] why in the world you were down [illegible] pond at this time of night, but [illegible] couldn't tell now. I have guessed." The Boy didn't really know himself [illegible] he was there, but he was curious [illegible] hear what Frog would say. So

GLUG! GLUG! AND GRUNK! THE MUSICIANS WERE TUNING UP

Peter smiled to himself in the darkness and asked:

"Why am I here, old chap? Tell me."

"You have stayed to listen to the 'Coming-Out Concert'," replied his companion. Peter gave a little gasp. "The 'Coming-Out Concert'!" repeated he. "What in the world are you talking about? You have certainly guessed wrong this time, Froggie. I don't even know what you mean!"

"Tsha!" croaked Froggie in a disgusted tone. "You are not half so smart as I thought you were. When you rolled my eyes—'headlights.' I gave you credit for being very clever. The name suits them so well. But now you tell me you never heard of a 'Coming-Out Concert' I must believe you are just as stupid as the rest of the Two-Legs. Well, if you don't know what it is I suppose I must tell you. It is a concert that the Frogs give every spring. And what for, do you suppose?"

"I can't guess," replied the Boy.

"To celebrate our coming-out, of course!" answered Froggie sharply.

"Yes, but coming out of what?" The more Froggie said the more puzzled the Boy became.

"Out of our winter quarters!" declared Froggie triumphantly. "Surely you have heard that we Frogs sleep all winter! No? Dear, dear, how ignorant! When the cold weather steals down from the north—long before the first white blanket has been spread upon the cold, bare earth—we Frogs have buried ourselves deep in the mud at the bottom of the pond, and there, safe from harm, as warm as bees in the hives, we spend the cold days, with nothing to do but sleep and grow fat.

"To be sure, we couldn't live very long without a bit of moisture—our skins would harden, grow stiff and crack—but there is moisture in the mud, all that we need. But let me tell you after you have lain in mud for months you are mighty glad to come out in the world of air and sunshine again. When spring comes and we Froggies can push our way out of our muddy beds we are the happiest creatures in all the wide world. And now spring is here, tra la!"

"Glug! Glug! Kerchunk! Honk! Honk! Keree!"

"Gracious. What is all that noise?" asked Peter as suddenly the air became filled with strange sounds.

"What you hear is the musicians tuning up. Aha! Now all together. They are off. The 'Coming-Out Concert' has begun."

STOCK DEMAND IS GOOD ON NEW YORK EXCHANGE

Several Leaders Ease Off When Operators Start Profit-Taking

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks firm; industrial stocks slightly irregular; domestic bonds steady; cotton opens four per cent grain easy; copper firm; coal firm; cotton receivers; rubber steady; sugar, steady; pig iron steady; foreign exchange irregular; foreign bonds, steady

New York, July 19 — Demand for stocks developed early today and many of the list advanced one to two points, but professional operators showed a tendency to take profits at the high level and several of the leaders eased off from their peaks. The general tone, however, was toward higher ...

The selling occurred around midday after the market had been advancing materially in spots on bullish buying. Few stocks made new highs for the year as a gain of 1 to 3 points from Saturday's close. General Electric featured the industrial group, rising 2 ½ to a new top of 327 ½ then caused a fraction on realizing sales. Railroad numbers also reached a new high of 52 1-4 up 1 to 3 and other specialties attained new summits in advance. Dr. Genter Ale, National Lead, Brazil Corporation, General Railway Signal, National Tea, Air Reduction and Texas Gulf Sulphur were conspicuous among the advancers. Their net gains were all wards of a point but they all flipped back slightly on profit taking.

Another feature of the rail group other than the rise of Erie was the action of Southern Pacific in advancing to the highest price in its history, 133 1-4. Accumulation of this stock was based on its attractiveness as a 5 per cent dividend payer which earning more than twice its dividend requirements.

Other railroads to reach new top were Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific and Missouri Pacific.

United States Steel and other metals moved within a narrow range, the steel falling off ¼ to 125. Commercial solvents B which has been moving up and down rather violently for a week or so, rode slumping metals 11 points to 237.

Oils were firm. Houston after gaining a point reacted and lost almost all of its advance. Mid-land was up ¾ at 48¾.

Motors were quiet and irregular. General Motors fluctuated uncertainly, gaining a little then reacting. Mack ... [illegible] ... then weaken... [illegible] ... to 61 a 1½ gain from Saturday's close.

Believes Ten Years Necessary to Perfect Atlantic Flying

MORE PIONEER ATTEMPTS ARE REQUIRED, BYRD

Commander of Monoplane America Tells of Flight on Arrival Home

New York July 15—Perfection of transatlantic air voyages will take 10 years for there must be many more pioneering flights to chart safe air lanes Com Richard E Byrd said today on his return to New York

Sitting in the presidential suite on the Leviathan he told newspapermen of the possibilities of aviation and of the hazardous flight made by the monoplane America

"We obtained more scientific data by flying through storms than if we had experienced fine weather he said "We were surprised however when we struck a storm area over France

Can Stand Anything

"The outstanding high light of our flight I believe is the fact that I am convinced that a plane can stand against anything and come through all right

"But to date the transatlantic air lanes have not been charted sufficiently and other flights will be needed to make observations before regular trips are possible

"It will take 10 years I believe to actually perfect transatlantic flights. There must be larger planes and it will be necessary to have them multi motored Then no storm will be able to stop the plane of the future

Must Conquer Fog

"I agree with Colonel Lindbergh that floating docks at mid ocean would help but stated some are to be found to compare the fog we can not depend on them

"At present America is behind Europe in aviation but I believe that when the business men take up the cause we will outstrip once the rest of the world as we have with automobile and radio"

An incident of the flight hitherto not revealed was told by Commander Byrd He said that after the America passed over 80 miles Newfoundland Lieutenant Noville reported the plane was using 12 gallons of gasoline an hour Byrd estimated that at this rate the fuel would not last until they reached Europe

Ship Was Tilted

We were pretty sick he said until some time later when Noville reported he had made an error because the ship was tilted at the time he estimated our fuel supply and our guesses were not correct

Byrd praised the pumps made by Lieutenant Richter and said that the flight had not shaken his faith in any member of his crew He expressed interest in the New York to Rome flight planned by Lloyd Bertaud and said It can be done"

Commander Byrd will remain in New York for several days he said and then will begin preparations for his south pole flight

FOREIGN FOLIO BEGGING IN JAP GOVERNMENT

Premier Tanaka Looking After Ministry, Seeking Strong Man for Job

Tokyo, July 18—A good job paying a salary of approximately $1000 per year is waiting for an incumbent in Japan. It is equally true that several would-be aspirants are keeping off the job for some reason or other and the men in question have not [illegible] yet.

The job in question is more [illegible] than minister of foreign affairs in a cabinet created [illegible] April by Baron Kogoro Tanakura who held it for [illegible] three years until the [illegible] of politics forced him into private life.

When General Baron Giichi Tanaka became premier he quickly filled [illegible] posts of his cabinet except that of foreign minister. He announced that temporarily he would hold both the premiership and the foreign office as [illegible] Tanaka himself.

Speculation immediately became general as to who would be appointed to this tremendously important post when General Tanaka got ready to relinquish it. The names of two men who are well known in the United States immediately were mentioned along with numerous others.

Ambassador Mentioned

Foremost among those regarded as the most likely selection until it [illegible] listed that his appointment might have been announced before this were those for the problem of selecting his successor at Washington.

Ambassador Matsudaira is [illegible] here is eminently qualified for the [illegible] by reason of his strong personality and his long experience in the diplomatic service. He was minister of foreign affairs at the time of the appointment to Washington and [illegible] that he held the post of chief of the American and European affairs bureau of the foreign office and he has served in embassies or legations at Paris, London and Peking.

Also prominently mentioned at the time of the change in cabinets was Masanao Hanihara who was Japanese ambassador at Washington at the time the immigration law with its Japanese exclusion clause was passed. Since his retirement from the Washington ambassadorship Mr. Hanihara has been on the foreign office waiting list and there is a strong section of opinion which believes that the diplomatic service has long [illegible] deprived of his undoubted talents. Nevertheless it is considered improbable that Hanihara will be selected to succeed Baron Shidehara.

Unless Ambassador Matsudaira is appointed the general opinion is that the post will go to Kenkichi Yoshizawa, the Japanese minister to China. Chinese affairs and policies loom larger on the Japanese horizon just now than any other and Minister Yoshizawa's long experience at Peking and his admitted skill in dealing with the complicated Chinese situation since his appointment in 1925 make him a strong possibility.

Other Possibilities

Several others of lesser fame and far less experience have been mentioned but it is believed that the final choice will be between Ambassador Matsudaira and Minister Yoshizawa with the odds rather inclined to favor Matsudaira because of his higher rank and wider experience in the diplomatic service.

Meantime while General Tanaka is superseding the resident of the foreign affairs department the actual direction of the ministry is in the hands of K. Oshiuchi the vice minister. General Tanaka has indicated that this arrangement at present is working to his satisfaction and that he is in no hurry to appoint a foreign minister. It is probable therefore that no decision will be made until after ample time has been given to a full consideration of the situation.

First Great Railroad Strike.

Fifty years ago this week the first great railroad strike in the history of the country was in progress a strike which resulted in the tying up of several of the largest transportation systems the loss of many lives and the destruction of millions of dollars worth of property

overnment Again Launches Attack on Bottle Liquor Source

ORT SYSTEM R DETROIT R REVEALED

Border Smuggling Is ed on in Elaborate Fashion

Note—Following is the series of stories showing government is waging its present rum rumors from liquor into the United from Canada. Lawrence U. S. staff correspondent, ven interviewing governofficials, dry workers and in a position to know what rumrunners are doing. Other will follow daily.

Aug. 18—After seven and a of losing battle with border federal prohibition forces have again launched of craft along the Straits of Lake between Port Huron, Toledo, O., in a desperate off at a bottle as the chief source of liquor supply for more than a quarter of the country.

W. D. Mowe, prohibition commissioner for Michigan and Ohio, has been in Detroit for three days mapping out the new drive with T. E. Williams, the district commissioner for the Detroit district. Mowe says 100 per cent can be done.

"Detroit is the worst city in the United States," Deeping does not want prohibition."

Truck Caravans

These are the words from into the mouth of enforcement officials from the endless rows of fancy yacht docks operated by American "exporters" on the Canadian side of the Detroit River. For more than 20 miles this narrow stream, always placid, is all that lies between apparently limitless supplies of liquors and an easy and thriving market on the American side.

Out of Detroit every day, truck caravans are operated on schedule to Chicago, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Columbus and Cincinnati.

Cleveland, Toledo, Sandusky, Buffalo and Niagara Falls receive their shipments direct by lake but none of these points approaches Detroit in the volume of the illicit trade.

"The lumber smuggling has not been stopped, as it should have been," says R. N. Holcombe, of the Anti-Saloon League, "but the prohibition forces are working on that as one of their great jobs and, when they have solved that problem, Detroit will be as dry as the rest of the inland cities."

Need More Men, Claim

Sumner C. Slocum, deputy customs collector directly in charge of the border patrol, says that cleaning out the river rum row is only a question of sufficient men. Less than 50 customs officers are now employed in checking shipments from the Canadian side.

Dockworkers along the waterfront say that every time a ferryboat from Windsor lands in Detroit, between 500 and 1,000 quarts of whisky are landed on the American side. Customs officials scout at the assertion. If prices are an index of anything, the dockworkers are not entirely wrong. Canadian whisky in case lots sells in Detroit for $4 a quart. Last October the price was $5.00 to $5.50 and two years ago $6.00 to $7.00.

Three thousand Detroit police and almost a hundred Michigan state police are legally behind the prohibition and customs forces. The city force however, takes no responsibility for smuggling operations.

The sharp division of labors between the many units charged technically with enforcement is regarded by dry leaders as the principal obstacle to effective measures in the Detroit area.

Needs 24-Hour Watch

On paper the battle front extends from Port Huron at the southern tip of Lake Huron, southward for 70 miles to Lake St. Clair, through the 30-mile length of that rum laden inland sea to the Detroit River and thence southward in the river to Toledo, on the western tip of Lake Erie.

As a practical matter, however, this is only a potential battlefront, for the task of guarding the entire Canadian border along this 80-mile stretch has never been managed successfully by the United States Coast Guard.

With hundreds of sheltering coves and inlets along the American shoreline as havens of refuge for the swift rumrunners' launches, effective blockade, in the opinion of those dealing with the problem daily, would require an army sentry-watch 24 hours a day with at least two men to the mile.

Between Port Huron and Toledo, no less than 400 launches are operating, according to the estimate of coast guard officers at Detroit.

Makes Speedy Trip

One launch which runs daily between Walkerville, Ontario, and Detroit, is equipped with a 450-horsepower airplane motor. Its operator boasts that, timed by a stop-watch, he has left the Canadian shore with his cargo of 20 cases of whisky, raced to an American landing, unloaded into trucks and returned to his dock on the Ontario side—all in four minutes.

This and half a dozen other supersafe craft operate in daylight as well as under the cover of night, but only the swiftest of the fleet venture into the rivers between dawn and dusk. The main work of supplying the Detroit distributing market does not begin until darkness comes to permit the operation of the elaborate system of shore-to-shore signal lights which controls the movements of the fleet.

Canadian customs regulations require that all export shipments must be cleared before 6 p. m. At that hour the United States rum ships muscle in their docks at 15 Canadian towns loaded, cleared ready to move. At dark they put out to midstream and drift silently until a light on the American side directs them to move north or south from the city. This public, they keep in at top speed to within a few hundred yards of the shore, when a second light reveals the location of the waiting truck caravan with its unloading crew.

Operated on System

In the beginning this gasoline fleet was an individualistic institution with every man for himself and the fastest gunboat take the loudspeed. Today the system presents a sort of corporate commission, for profit only. Every operator delivers his cargo according to a central clearing house of patrol information. There are three such even dark "lighthouses" along the border between Lake Huron and Lake Erie, one on the American side and two on the Canadian.

Within 10 minutes walk of the heart of Detroit, a marked spot on the sixth floor of a downtown office building keeps a 24-hour watch on the operating headquarters of the customs service river boats house. A telephone in this headquarters cross-rest connects directly, without going through a central exchange, to the Windsor "lighthouse."

The American customs service on the Detroit River front runs not even stops out a boat to watch it without word of their move flashing instantaneously to the Canadian side.

U. S. Marine Reinforcements March to Ocotal After Saturday's Sharp Battle

Americans Fight Several Hundred Rebels Guided by General Who Refused To Lay Down Arms; Green, Labor Head, Makes Protest to Washington

Managua, Nicaragua, July 18—United States marine reinforcements are marching towards Ocotal today, where a sharp battle was fought on Saturday between nine marines and sailors supported by 50 native constabulary and a band of several hundred rebels under the leadership of General Sandino.

There have been difficulties for marines and sailors in Central American countries ever since the efforts of the marines to enforce peace ensued in the battle on Saturday when it is revealed that the marines and their native supporters killed some 50 rebels and wounded many others. One soldier was killed and another wounded.

Many of the rebels came to the aid of the men who fell by the rebels and much of the battle on the fighting is said to have been done by the pilots and their machine guns. They swooped low over the rebels, who had the small band of marines cornered and cut down the attackers with a hail of machine gun bullets.

Report Matters Brave

Army observers returning here report great bravery on the part of the advancing marines and they also state that the rebel dead and wounded have been left on the battle hill without attempt. Efforts are being made to send out parties from here to care for the wounded and carry out the dead.

The latest reports show that the marines have kept up the fast tradition of their famous corps. Hardly had a company of marines under Captain Hatfield been stationed at Ocotal, awaiting reinforcements when the rebels under General Sandino attacked. After a brief fight the rebels went out in three parties and suggested that Hatfield and his men surrender unconditionally. Hatfield's reply was served in no uncertain manner. Answering negative and the battle was resumed.

The marines were hard pressed but still fighting when the airplane squadron here left for the front. Reinforcements have been sent and are now on the way.

Ends of battle in favor of the Americans.

GREEN PROTESTS RENEWED WARFARE

Washington, July 18—A protest over the "warfare" between Nicaraguan Liberals and American Marines was lodged with the state department today by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

Green was requested in making the protest by information supplied to him by two Nicaraguan delegates to the Pan American Labor Conference, opening here today. He intimated that the public had been deceived into believing that peace had been re-established in Nicaragua and that arrangements had been made for a new election there.

"Now it appears that bloodshed is imminent and destruction of life is reasonably threatened. We shrink from contemplation of such a situation."

Green concluded his protest with a request that Secretary of State Kellog prevent the use of American armed forces in Nicaragua.

A determined group of Nicaraguan Liberals, commanded by General Sandino, have refused to accept the so-called Stimson peace plan which was forced upon Nicaragua by President Coolidge's personal envoy, Henry L. Stimson, aided by U. S. marines.

HELP FOR SICK WOMEN

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Has Restored the Health of Thousands

Brooklyn, New York.—Mrs. G. Hegmann of 226 Schaeffer St., was in a run down condition and could not do her house work. She could not sleep at night. Her story is not an unusual one. Thousands of women find themselves in a similar condition at sometime in their lives. "I found your advertisement in my letter box," wrote Mrs. Hegmann, "and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got relief." Mrs. Hegmann also took Lydia E. Pinkham's Herb Medicine and Lydia E. Pinkham's Pills for Constipation with good results. She says: "I am recommending your medicines to all I know who have symptoms the same as mine, and to others whom I think it will help. You may use my statement as a testimonial and I will answer any letters sent to me by women who would like information regarding your medicines."

There are women in your state—perhaps in your town—who have written letters similar to this one telling how much Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped them.

Would You Believe It?

WOULD you believe both the young women in this picture were the same girl?

Would you believe the earnest, quiet looking business girl on the left could change, almost overnight, into the beautiful, pleasure-loving, carefree creature on the right?

Would you believe that a girl could fall desperately in love with a man she had never spoken to, whom she had seen but once?

Watch for "The Penny Princess," when she makes her appearance in The Star next Thursday.

"My—But Your Hands Are Soft"

She had washed her hands that morning with Werk's Tag Soap.

Thousands of women are keeping their hands soft and white by using this century-old soap proved quality.
